The Spectators in the Senate

The Cincinnati Commercial thus describes the appearance of the Senate during the Mahone squabble: "Senator Conkling sat in the middle aisle, dressed in a mixed brown business suit, with a bit of red handkerchief showing above the breast-pocket and a talismanic red ribbon tied in his button-hole. The color of a peculiar drop crimson, and on the fair throat of a beautiful lady in the gallery a handkerchief of exactly the same shade was tied. The lady, whose name has been so entangled with Senator Conkling's, has changed so much in the past few months that old acquaintances hardly knew her. A year ago she was stout and rosy, daring and untamed; now she is very thin, her eyes sunk, cheekbones prominent, her face as white as chalk. She walked into the Senate with the old proud poise of the head and the magnificent carriage for which she is noted, and took her seat with haughty grace. She looked neither to the right nor left. All the old gaiety had disappeared; her face settled into thoughtful, pensive lines, broken only by the chatter of her little daughters, the eldest of whom—a girl of twelve—leaned her head on her mother's shoulder, and played with her mother's cloak buttons. The children are as plain as their mother is beautiful. They are dark little things, with big eyes and turn-up noses and large mouths. That the woman has suffered her haggard face shows. That she will make no sign of her distress, those who know her are sure. That she is determined that the public shall see no change in her habits, her coming as of yore into the Senate chamber shows; and her looking over the daily papers that have the 'Sprague divorce suit' in big head lines, was as cool a performance as a woman ever attempted in public. There are those who assert that she is dying by inches, and that a few more months will close the life of one of the most noted and beautiful and miserable of the women of America."

Blind Tom's Wonderful Memory.

Stanford, W. Va., Gazette.
To your correspondent a gentleman related the following: "The most wonderful feat of memory I recollect of was displayed by Blind Tom on the stage while giving a concert here recently. Twenty-one years ago, 1860, Prof. E. L. Ide, a music teacher at the Wesleyan Female Seminary here, attended one of Tom's concerts at Frederick, Md., and to test the genius of the boy, played a German waltz then but little known, and made some little changes of his own in playing it. Tom played it off at once correctly. The other night Prof. Ide went on the stage and asked Tom what was the name of the hall in which he played in 1860. Tom, without hesitation, gave the name of the hall. He was asked who played for him, and he said Prof. Ide. He was then asked to repeat the piece that had been played for him then, and sitting down at the piano he accurately gave it as he heard it twenty-one years ago, note for note, including the changes made by the Professor at that time."

Unlucky Number.

It is seldom that a given number can be found to repeat itself in so singular and significant a manner as in the following case, as discovered by the San Francisco Examiner: "On the 19th of October George A. Wheeler strangled his sister-in-law, Adella T. Wilson, under circumstances unparalleled in the annals of crime on this coast. On the 19th day of November he was indicted by the Grand Jury. On the 19th day of December he was arraigned for his crime. On the 19th day of January he was convicted of murder in the first degree, and on the 19th day of February he was sentenced to be hanged on Tuesday, the 19th day of April, by the neck until he was dead." Evidently 19 is an unfortunate and unlucky number with Wheeler.

Garibaldi on Assassination.

Gen. Garibaldi's declaration that assassination is the secret whereby the ultimate triumph of the revolution is to be secured, and that the assassins are the true precursors of the reign of the future social republic, has been hailed with delight by the communists on the Continent. At Ghent a socialist orator, after eulogizing the murder of the Belgians ought to share his fate. Among those who ought, in M. Rochefort's phrase, to be "nitro-glycerined," according to the new gospel of the social republic, are included all the authorities from St. Petersburg to Washington.

"I threw this off in ten minutes," softly said the poet, placing a manuscript on the editorial table. The editor said that when it came to speed no long-haired poet should distance him; and he threw it off in less than ten minutes—off the table into the waste-basket.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the cure of Consumption is without a parallel in the history of medicine. Since its first discovery it has been sold on a guarantee, a fact which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, chest or back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plasters. Price 25 cts. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker Drugists, Reno, Nevada.

Given Up by Doctors.

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?" "I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Shiloh's Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!" "That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hope are good."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sometime last summer, while the health of New York was being discussed in the newspapers, the proprietors of Scribner raised the question: Whether science knows how to build a perfectly drained and healthful city? The answers seemed to make it appear that science does not yet know, or, if it does, its votaries certainly differ widely in the methods to be adopted.

As a result of that inquiry, Col. Geo. E. Waring, Jr., has undertaken to set forth the disease of cities in the May Scribner, and, in the June Scribner, the remedies, taking New York City as the chief example. A lively discussion may be looked for among the sanitarian scientists when Col. Waring's very radical views are exploited.

The object glass of the Lick Observatory, which is being constructed upon Mount Hamilton, in Santa Clara county, will be 36 inches in diameter. The Washington telescope has an object glass of 26 inches in diameter, which is the largest in the world, save only one recently cast in Dublin for the Vienna Observatory and which is 27 inches in diameter. Abram Clark and Sons, of Cambridge, Mass., are the makers, and the contract price for the glass alone is $30,000. Some three years may be required to do the work.

It has been proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that cruel and shameful acts have been perpetrated in the Orphans' Home at Carson; there has been presented, in fact, evidence that proves the ever infamous Squeers' Hall of Dickens' imagination to have been no exaggeration. Yet the Commissioners—who are also, we believe, State officers—appear to be satisfied with the present management. All hail, Whitewash, thou conjurer of modern investigations.—Sac. Bee.

The shadow of a doubt never stops the Bee man when astride of his paragrappical horse.

The State papers are full of personal telling of the return of old Nevada to sagebrush. They seek new pastures, find the grass short, break a fence and come home across lots. The latest, however, shows clearly the value of our unequal climate. R. L. Tilden, a printer well known to the trade in this State, has returned from the Spirit Land, according to an article in the Banner of Light. They must have made it very uncomfortable for him over there.

Congressman Jorgensen has fallen foul of Geo. C. Gorham and called him "a slanderer and a dirty dog." Francis Pixley is in Washington, and when he heard of the Jorgenssonian tirade he found the Virginia Congressman and, laying his head upon the Jorgenssonian shoulder, wept tears of joy. Said Pix: "I concur, and will make you immortal in the Aryonaut, let the good work go on."

The two last steamers from China to San Francisco brought nearly 1,000 Mongols each, and the one which came in on Saturday had among her Chinese passengers smallpox of the most malignant type. And yet there is a treaty before the United States Senate, unratified, confining the number of these immigrants to fifteen to a vessel.

Kutz, the Chicago Socialist, has written President Garfield, in which he says he is as much of a despot as the Czar of Russia, and that he ought to have a dose of dynamite and nitroglycerine. We have written Kutz, the Chicago Socialist, that he is as much of a fool as we care to read about, and that we approve of suicide in extreme cases of Kutz.

The Sacramento Bee does not believe in criticizing "grammatical inaccuracies." Who has been abusing the Bee?

Poor Thomas Carlyle is dead, but already the lecturers are worrying his old bones.

Lodi, Cal., has six physicians. Real estate is depreciating.

Polygamous Policy.

WASHINGTON, April 21.

It is announced in a letter from Utah, bearing the date of the 11th, that up to that time Cannon had not taken any testimony, so far as known, in the contested election case. It is believed that he intends to try and go through on a prima facie case, based on the count of votes, which is not questioned. He will be met by charges that he is not an American citizen and is a flagrant violator of the law, which debars him from a seat in Congress. It is believed the contest will open up the whole Mormon question and produce an agitation that will lead at least to remedial measures. It is reported that the Mormon influence in Idaho is determined against Governor Neal, and that no effort will be spared to accomplish his removal. He has not yet made a strong fight to head off the encroachments of these people upon the Territory, and he has been marked for disposition in any way that will remove him as an obstacle to their advancement. The Mormons, it is believed, will be made to appreciate that opposition to their degrading influence will be no objection to a Territorial Governor in the opinion of Garfield.

Old Mexico Mines.

There are to-day in the State of Chihuahua, says El Fronterizo, six American companies engaged in working mines. We will make a brief mention of them. The mining company of Santa Eulalia owns the famous mine of that name, sixteen miles from the city of Chihuahua. In former years these mines paid $11,000,000. Although they have been worked for many years, they are still very rich. The Americans have been deliberating on piercing the mountains by a tunnel and constructing a railroad as far as the confluence of the Sacramento and Chihuahua rivers, so as to place machinery there to work the metals. The Cusquirachi mines were bought last year by a San Francisco company for $300,000. These mines are ninety miles from Chihuahua. The vein at the depth of 600 feet, contains solid metal in some cases to the breadth of fifteen feet. The metal has been treated by lixiviation. The Batopilas mines, in the southwest of the State, of which Messrs Wells, Fargo & Co. are the owners, contain great deposits of silver and produce large sums to the workers. The archives of Chihuahua show that these mines produced, during the rule of the Spaniards, the vast sum of $100,000,000. The Parral mines belong to the Knott company of Chicago. These mines are in the city of Hidalgo. According to the State archives, these mines have yielded $60,000,000. An Indiana company owns the La Luz mine, which is five miles from the Parral. The Guisay, or gravel mines, are owned by the Chicago mining company. These mines, also five miles from the Parral, are famous for having at one time produced an immense bolsa (sugget) of virgin silver.

That Mackay Parisian Blow Out.

From the descriptions that have come to hand, says the Eureka Leader, John W. must have naturally spread himself in the big ball which he gave lately in Paris: Two hundred servants in liveries of black and scarlet and gold; ballroom lined with mirrors and old tapestry; Waldteufels leading the band, vocalists singing the waltzes; souvenirs for the guests of silver from Mr. Mackay's mines bearing the Mackay arms and date of the ball; menus of white and pink satin; $1,200 worth of strawberries, and stierlets from Russia. Then the toilets of the ladies, especially those of Mrs. Mackay and her sister, the Countess of Telfer. It is said that the lace on Mrs. Mackay's dress cost $10,000. An imaginative Frenchman, who on this occasion saw Mackay for the first time, was "surprised by his youthful and almost frail appearance." "Youthful," "frail" as applied to John Mackay are good.

Cannon Cannons.

"President" George Q. Cannon addressed the Mormon Conference at Salt Lake City the other day, and in speaking of the loyalty of the saints declared that the time would come when the saints would have to go to the rescue of and maintain free government on this continent, and this would occur within the lives of some of the congregation. They would give free government, freedom of religious thought and action to all—the pagan, the Hebrew, the Indian, the orthodox, the heterodox, and the infidel. They claimed those rights for themselves, he said, and would strive for them, and also to confer them upon others.

Rung for Lying.

The citizens of Santa Barbara recently hung a man for lying. True, the man had, in all probability, committed a murder, which could have been forgiven him, but to lie about it, instead of saying he committed it in self defense, was too much for the good people of that county. There is doubtless a moral scattered around somewhere in connection with this affair, but we have not time to hunt it up.

ARRIVAL AT THE ARCADE HOTEL.

D. McFARLAND PROPRIETOR.

H. A. King, Lake City, L. E. Wrightman, Reno, D. J. Harris, S. F. L. Hinkley, S. F. Eureka, J. B. Rice, P. J. Farnsworth, Clayton, D. Robinson, P. Ramo.

Might She Hold Him?

The Soldene Troupe discovered a novelty, this morning in the Norman stables of James A. Perry. The well-groomed animals were ridden through the streets, and when the troupe found they were of the Norman persuasion the singers were affected almost to tears. One enthusiastic lady while looking at the dapple grey "Dauntless," weight 1,750 pounds, asked with a bewitching smile: "Might I please hold him a little while if I don't hurt him?"

Social.

The regular fortnightly social of the Methodist Episcopal Church was held at the residence of C. J. Brookins last night. The evening was spent in musical and literary exercises, and the twenty-five socialists were very pleasantly entertained.

SABLE SERVANTS.

How the Unassuming Black Spider Gets Its Work in on the Noxious Hopp.

The grasshopper bulletin is fast taking rank with the stock and market reports. The alfalfa is at least one month ahead of last year's crop, and it seems that soil, climate, and vegetable life is making a race for existence against the scourge. Reports from most of the ranches on the meadows show that ground which has remained dry renders its crop of hoppers considerably in advance of the soil which has been kept wet. D. W. O'Connor says he has been proud of the fact that no grasshoppers had appeared on his ranch, but one day's hatching had convinced him that pride goeth before a fall. There is, however, a movement on foot which threatens to increase the rate of grasshopper mortality and help the grass. Innumerable black spiders have appeared along with the pests, and seem to be awaiting the hatching season as anxiously as the ranchers. A. A Clever Murderers.

Bill Graham and John Read have been acquitted of murdering Cam Rowley, whom they deliberately killed at Milledgeville, Ky. Cam belonged to a bad family. Four of his brothers died violently, in fights or lynchings, and he was a most disagreeable desperado. It was his practice to demand food, drink, and lodgings wherever he chanced to want them, and he never paid for anything, or did any work. He always carried two pistols and a rifle, with which to terrorize the people. One night he not only slept uninvited in Graham's house, but drove the owner out, shot a dog for fun, and kissed the women. Graham consulted with Read, a neighbor who had suffered a similar outrage, and they demanded of a constable the arrest of the offender; but the officer lacked the courage to do his duty. They then decided to slay Cam. They had one gun loaded with a blank cartridge, and the other with powder and ball. Each took a gun, without knowing which had the harmless one, and lay in wait for the enemy. When he emerged from the house in the morning both fired on him and he fell dead.

Romeo and Juliet.

Looking at the Voorhees-Mahone altercation in the Senate, the Detroit Tribune sees it from a Shakespearean point of view, thusly:
M—h—ne to V—rh—s. "Do you bite your thumb at me, sir?"
D—s aside to V—rh—s. "If you say you bite your thumb at him it will be unlawful; he will have the rules on you."
V—rh—s. "No, sir; I do not bite my thumb at you, sir; I bite my thumb at you." "What art thou about?"
V—rh—s. "I am spread. Is he gone and hath nothing? My mouth is as deep as a well and as wide as a barn door. Ask for me to-morrow, and you shall find I have swallowed myself."

Stokes on the Witness Stand.

From the N. Y. Sun.
In the case of Thomas H. Senior against the National Stone Block Company to recover $10,000, which was on trial before Chief Justice Sedgwick, the principal witness was Edward S. Stokes, who is one of the officers of the company. The plaintiff's counsel on cross-examination asked Mr. Stokes where he resided in 1876, to which he promptly responded that he was at that time "under conviction of—." John R. Des Passes, counsel for defendant, here interposed, stating they admitted that Mr. Stokes had been convicted of manslaughter for killing James Fisk, Jr., and that he did not think it was necessary to try that case over again.

The Value of Forgetfulness.

"An acquaintance of mine has just had a piece of luck," said a broker this afternoon. "Her father died in 1873 or 4 and left, among other property, a lot of securities in Western roads. They were not worth much of anything then. She would have sold them all for a thousand dollars, but nobody offered a thousand dollars, and the whole batch was put away and forgotten. A few weeks ago they were found while search was being made for something else, and a pretty important find it was. There was 800 shares of the Sandusky & Cleveland road, a lot of bonds of the Marietta road, preferred stock in several roads, and I don't know what all. The aggregate value at market prices figured up over $100,000."

How to Bring up a Boy.

Boston Post.
A woman from the West End has just climbed the sixty-five stairs between our office and the ground and burst in with the remark, "O, gracious! I thought I never would get up those stairs! Mr. editor, I want you to tell me how to bring up my boy." And we answered, "Well, ma'am, if you must bring him up, grab him by the seat of his trousers, and trot him along; but we'd a heap rather you wouldn't bring him up at all. We don't want to see the boy, and he may raise thunder here." And she said we were an idiot and a brute, and she went away very angry.
